ESPN will release the ESPN RISE FAB 50 national boys' soccer rankings each Tuesday of the regular season and playoffs, continuing through the final games of the various state playoffs around the nation. For the state-by-state rankings, click here.

Quite a bit of shuffling took place in this week's FAB 50 in order to position teams for the stretch run of regular season play. The big winners this week were three St. Louis private schools and Lower Merion (Pa.).

The third-ranked St. Louis squad, Christian Brothers, overcame a strong field, which included seven teams that have been in the FAB 50 or state-by-state rankings, to win the top flight bracket of the Gateway City Soccer Classic. Christian Brothers' impressive showing benefited the two St. Louis schools that have wins over CBC, as SLUH, No. 1 in St. Louis, and St. John Vianney, No. 2, climb in this week's rankings.

Lower Merion makes a big jump this week as the new No. 1 in Pennsylvania. Of course, the future ranking for Lower Merion, along with Don Bosco Prep (N.J.), will be tied to St. Benedict's (N.J.) performance since both teams lost to SBP 1-0.

Rankings through matches played as of Sunday, Oct. 5.

3	St. Benedict's (Newark, N.J.)	10-0-0	3	The GrayBees shutout streak was ended after 9.5 matches, yet their two wins over Top 25 teams in the past two weeks justifies the lofty national ranking.
4	New Trier (Winnetka, Ill.)	12-0-0	4	New Trier is the lone undefeated team in Illinois Class AA, and it tops the Sun-Times and Tribune rankings.

5	Sylvania Northview (Sylvania, Ohio)	14-0-1	8	The top-ranked Ohio squad is now in position to make a run at a national title with an undefeated season.

8	St. Louis University High (St. Louis, Mo.)	14-2-0	11	SLUH, winners of 10 in a row, is ranked No. 1 in St. Louis after avenging its regular season losses with wins over Vianney and Christian Brothers a week ago.
9	Lower Merion (Ardmore, Pa.)	10-1-0	42	Lower Merion's 1-0 loss to St. Benedict's keeps looking more impressive as the GrayBees continue to win. Lower Merion moved up to No. 1 in the Pennsylvania soccer coaches state poll following a loss by Downingtown West.

17	Christian Brothers (St. Louis, Mo.)	15-2-0	12	CBC, ranked No. 3 in the St. Louis area, bounced back from a loss to Edwardsville (Ill.) by winning the Arbelaez Bracket of the Gateway City Soccer Classic with a 3-0 victory over Milwaukee Marquette (Wis.) in the final. Zach Hundelt was named MVP.

However, PK results count as ties in Davis' section. Sacramento Jesuit, which previously beat Davis 3-0, is a possible playoff opponent.
25	Norfolk Academy (Norfolk, Va.)	13-0-0	26	Maryland commit Jordan Cyrus has 113 career goals and has moved within 10 points of becoming the school's all-time leading scorer.
